

BTT10: Website Development Assignment

Do not start this assignment until you have finished your introductory Weebly page.

Now that you have some understanding of what a website should contain, you will be creating larger scale websites in Weebly. You are to create three website based on an academic subject, small business idea and a product from the mystery box. Aside from suitable content, the sites must successfully incorporate the following ideas:

- minimum of five web documents (pages)
- home page named “Home”
- some consistent form of background
- structural headings as necessary for the content of each page
- three multimedia objects
- images that illustrate your topic
- use of text and pictures throughout the site
- links to other webpages within your site not including the navigation bar
- links to three external web sites
- different page layouts that enhance the presentation of your material (page section)
- a related links page that also contains any research sources for your projects

When you have selected your academic subject and small business idea, present them to me prior to starting your websites for approval. Remember the important aspects of website development when making your webpages and be sure to avoid the common errors of webpages. Aim for simplicity, clarity persuasiveness for your product and ease of use. Despite being a serif font, Times New Roman feels cold and merciless like the Roman Centurions. Perhaps that connection was intentional. Anyway, have fun as you explore subjects
